Ibán García del Blanco, 43, was born in León, Spain. In 2003, he started a full-time career in politics, serving from local to national administration: City Councillor (2003-2011), member of the Provincial Council (2011-2012), and member of the Spanish Senate (2012-2015).

Ibán García del Blanco holds a Degree in Law. As a lawyer, he has specialized in cultural management.

Within his political party, the Spanish Socialist Workers’ Party (PSOE), García del Blanco is a member of the Federal Executive Commission in charge of Culture and Sports.

Following his election as an S&D member of the European Parliament, he serves as Vice President of the Legal Affairs Committee, Committee where he is the rapporteur for a legislative initiative report on an ethical framework for Artificial Intelligence, robotics and related technologies.

He is also a member on the new Special Committee for Artificial Intelligence where he is appointed S&D coordinator.