The ETUI is financially supported by the European Union

International Training Centre

GOAL

The course helps participants experiment with active learning methodologies and improve their pedagogical skills to address the specific needs of their trade unions members.

METHODOLOGY

This online course is conducted using interactive self-guided learning modules, knowledge checks, live webinars and final assignment. Content is unlocked on a weekly basis and is packaged through active research, reflection and interactive activities which are meant to provide participants with the necessary knowledge and understanding to improve their learning needs.

Beside the modular highly interactive and participatory courseware, participants get to work on the planning of an individual session to experiment with active learning methodology and apply it to their training context.

The course is offered fully online through an asynchronous modality where participants can plan their own learning at their own pace. The course offers options for synchronous debate and discussions through targeted online webinars that are addressing cross-cutting themes and topics; thus providing an optional opportunity for learning, engaging with experts and online networking.

TARGET

Trainers and professionals working on training development within their European Trade Union organizations.

TEAM

The course is provided by ETUI in partnership with the Learning Innovation Programme of the ITCILO.

ESTIMATED WORKLOAD

The course is scheduled to start on May 10th until June 11th, for a total of 5 weeks of online learning. The average weekly workload estimate is 5 hours. However, the workload might correspond to a higher amount depending on earlier knowledge of active learning concepts and specific training project needs.

It is not what you “get” in this course; it is how deep you go. Think about why learning about active learning might transform your experience as a trainer, and what that means for you personally. We like to think that this course operates on three levels. Imagine we are standing on the seashore; the course is the ocean. Join us and go as deep as you can...

WEBINARS

The course is designed to be attended mostly in an asynchronous modality to ensure participants can combine the learning experience with working schedule and personal plans. However, the course foresees three opportunities for synchronous exchange with experts and peers via webinar.

On the platform, it is possible to share questions and comments participants want to address prior to the webinars.

These webinars are compulsory activities and they provide an opportunity for learners to deepen their learning and networking.

ASSESSMENT

The course has a modular structure, which includes a series of action-oriented activities and assessments to help participants achieve learning objectives. Successful completion of required activities lead to a Certificate at the end of the course.

Completion requirements are provided each week for each module. Nevertheless, the following table represents how typically assessments are included in modules:

Module's activity	Assessment
Welcome activities	NO; these activities usually provide social learning opportunities and do not correspond to an assessment. However, participation on a weekly basis takes short time.
Wading - The basics	YES; completion requirements are specified.
Snorkeling - Explore what's below the surface	YES; completion requirements are specified.
Scuba-diving - Go deeper	YES; completion requirements are specified.

CERTIFICATE

By successfully completing the required activities, participants receive a Certificate of Participation in digital credentials format.
